What:

The Conference is being delivered for us to complete a comprehensive review and revision of our sports delivery model to plan for the future. The previous COVID impacted seasons have created a number of improvements, innovations and concerns that we should look at collectively to plan a successful future for surf sports. Added to this are changes to national events, policies and guidelines and our macro environment that will shape our future events.

Participants will be involved in discussions and workshopping of a number of key surf sports topics to assist with planning and preparation for the 2022-23 season and beyond. The 2021-22 carnival post-event survey responses will help determine the topics as well as participant feedback and broader sport policy, rules and trends.
